 - Completely removed support for Debian:buster (installer#1220)
 - i. Should be a policy discussion about whether to remove support for OS versions that have gone out of service.
 - ii. Delay the discussion until Scott is available to contribute to the discussion.
 - Brief discussion of the issue <https://github.com/adoptium/temurin-build/issues/1951>
- July release update
 - Checklist for Temurin Release July 2025 (temurin#87)
 - Release Status per Platform, Version & Binary Type (temurin#89)
 - General Retrospective for July 2025 Release (temurin#84)
 - Most platforms are out now.
 - Solaris still not completed, and this is a platform that usually follows a slower process.
 - Had a few Windows problems due to infrastructure. All are out now.
 - Five binaries are still completing the JCK testing.
 - S390 machines went offline and they are in the process of being brought back online. This blocks the release of the containers since all platforms must be available for them to be published. Propose to push containers without S390 if this cannot be resolved quickly.

- JDK25 Win/aarch64 has a number of failures in AQAvit so not a delivery platform in this round.
 - The retrospective has been scheduled for Aug 12th, and a specific Compliance retrospective next week.
- Update on GHSA-xrvg-mgj7-p5wh.
 - None
- AoB
 - Stewart reminded the PMC that the Equinix machines are going away, and he has been continuing discussions with OSUOSL about getting additional aarch64 machines.
 - i. Eight cores on another machine can be allocated to Temurin Compliance, but still looking for further capacity.
